

ABSTRACT

7.

A cardiac therapy network architecture collects data output by an implantable cardiac therapy device, processes that data, and distributes it to The cardiac therapy network implements a various knowledge workers. presentation architecture that formats and encodes the data using different formats and protocols to facilitate distribution to and presentation on various computing devices that might be utilized by the knowledge workers.

and the time that the man the time the